The General Data Protection Regulation forms part of the data protection regime in the UK, together with the new Data Protection Act 2018 (DPA 2018). DWP is the Data Controller for this service under the Data Protection Act 2018. We have a legal duty to protect any information we collect from you and we will process your information in compliance with the provisions of GDPR and the Act.

We have made sure this service is secure and meets all government standards to prevent any unauthorised access to the information you give us.

What information do we collect?

We will ask you for personal information about you; like your name, address and about other people who are affected by the change so that the organisations can take any follow up actions they need to. We will only ask you for information needed by those organisations, and we will only pass onto each organisation the information that it needs.

You will be asked to agree to share this information with other organisations. If you are providing information on behalf of someone else you will also be asked if you have their agreement to do this.

Before the information is sent you will have a chance to check it and see who it will be shared with. Additionally this data is deleted following a period of time commensurate with giving the organisations involved sufficient time to address the change.

Other organisations who will receive your information

The organisations who will receive the information you provide have their own privacy policies which comply with the Data Protection Act 2018, General Data Protection Regulation and Human Rights Act 1998. Their policies can also be accessed via the Internet. We will be happy to help you to locate and read these, if you ask us to.

There are also formal agreements in place between each of these organisations and DWP. These explain in more detail how your information will be treated confidentially. These are examples of other organisations who can be informed of the changes and how the information you provide could be used by them:
